

THE DAILY DEMOCRAT,

PRINTED AND PUBLISHED BY HARNEY & HUGHES,
THIRD STREET,
East side, between Market and Jefferson streets.

SPECIAL ADVERTISING NOTICE.—All advertisements of Public Meetings, Masonic, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, etc., must be accompanied by three lines agate the first insertion, and twenty-five cents each subsequent insertion.

ADVERTISEMENTS WANTED, Religious, Charitable, Marriage and Obituary Notices, of five lines or less, will be inserted in the Evening edition of the Paper, $2 per insertion in the Morning Paper, $1 per insertion.

ADVERTISEMENTS IN THE EVENING EDITION OF THE DAILY DEMOCRAT ARE TRANSIENT ADVERTISEMENTS PAYABLE IN ADVANCE.

DEMOCRATIC STATE NOMINATIONS.

FOR GOVERNOR,
BEVERLY L. CLARKE, of Simpson.

FOR LIEUT. GOVERNOR,
BERIAN MAGOFFIN, of Mercer.

FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL,
R. W. WOOLLEY, of Fayette.

FOR TREASURER,
JAMES H. GARRARD, of Boyle.

FOR REGISTER,
T. J. FRAZER, of Breathitt.

FOR AUDITOR,
J. A. GRINSTEAD, of Fayette.

FOR SUPT. BOARD INTERNAL IMPROVEMENT,
JAMES N. NESBITT, of Bath.

FOR SUPERINTENDENT PUBLIC INSTRUCTION,
GRANT GREEN, of Henderson.

DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE FOR THE SEVENTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.—F. S. J. Reid, Wm. Thompson, John Fulmer, S. S. English, Charles Harrison.

THEIR DEDICATION.—We publish the communication about the vote on the wharf bonds, but we dissent entirely from the views taken in it. In the first place the wharf does not belong to the city, as the writer supposes; and secondly, it cannot now be purchased for less, and the city ought to own it. She could only have bought it for less, but it is not likely she could get it for less, or as little, at any future time, as the present contract calls for.

But, finally, the purchase has been made, and a refusal to correct a mere irregularity would be an act of repudiation. It is too late to discuss the terms. The bargain has been made in good faith.

They had to accommodate black Sam by repudiating all responsibility for the past; thus making an implied confession of wrong in it; and then give an abstract sentiment to suit white Sam. As they do not intend to act at all on the great territorial question, this "sense" is only an abstraction.

Now that the Samites have made the experiment, and exploded on the slavery question, they must it about that the two sections of the Union can't agree, and they therefore propose to do nothing.

If any territory is to be organized hereafter, the legislation is to be stopped, because the two Samites can't agree. A pretty pass we have come to, indeed, when, on a great question of territorial policy, the North and South are tied up and can do nothing.

Now there is a party North and South that takes the responsibility of this past legislation.

They neither dodge nor shirk at it. They annexed Texas, notwithstanding slavery. They organized Utah and Mexico. They passed the fugitive slave law in obedience to the Federal Constitution.

They have had a constant struggle North with sectionalism, and last year had white Sam and black Sam to fight on this great question. They have had deserters from their own ranks, and timid brethren who quailed before the storm; but their party at home, true to the Union and the Constitution, have sustained them. Last year many of them were beaten, but they do n't stay beaten.

There is a party North who are really friends of the Union. They intend to do justice to the South, and the majority of the free States will come to their aid. They have declared the true doctrine in their State Conventions, in all their presses, and in their speeches in Congress and before the people. They have so far held the North and South together by moderation and justice, and will do so in all time to come.

To the Right About Face.

We publish the communication about the vote on the wharf bonds, but we dissent entirely from the views taken in it. In the first place the wharf does not belong to the city, as the writer supposes; and secondly, it cannot now be purchased for less, and the city ought to own it. She could only have bought it for less, but it is not likely she could get it for less, or as little, at any future time, as the present contract calls for.

But, finally, the purchase has been made, and a refusal to correct a mere irregularity would be an act of repudiation. It is too late to discuss the terms. The bargain has been made in good faith.

(For the Louisville Democrat.)

BROWNSON.

Brownson, in his Review, for January, 1855, page 123, says:

A friend in Raleigh, N. C., sends us the following newspaper:

"If the Pope directed the Roman Catholics of this country to overthrow the Constitution, to sell the slaves, to make themselves slaves, and to renounce all claim as a dependent people to Napoleon the Little, crown them would be bound to obey."—Brownson's Review, by the Author of Boston, Mass.

Upon this he remarks:

We suppose there are people in the country, not under珪nian rule, who can, not believe, that it was the Church. Now we never wrote one word of it, nor anything from which it could be logically inferred. The Brownson's Review, the Author of Boston, by whom weak eyes can be as well taken as strong ones. Persons, whose eyes are so easily taken, that the ordinary sky-light of the operating sun causes a contraction of the muscles, and consequently a squint, are invited to try this great improvement.

Gallery on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth.

Mr. BROWNSON.

Brownson, in his Review, for January, 1855, page 123, says:

A friend in Raleigh, N. C., sends us the following newspaper:

"If the Pope directed the Roman Catholics of this country to overthrow the Constitution, to sell the slaves, to make themselves slaves, and to renounce all claim as a dependent people to Napoleon the Little, crown them would be bound to obey."—Brownson's Review, by the Author of Boston, Mass.

Upon this he remarks:

We suppose there are people in the country, not under珪nian rule, who can, not believe, that it was the Church. Now we never wrote one word of it, nor anything from which it could be logically inferred. The Brownson's Review, the Author of Boston, by whom weak eyes can be as well taken as strong ones. Persons, whose eyes are so easily taken, that the ordinary sky-light of the operating sun causes a contraction of the muscles, and consequently a squint, are invited to try this great improvement.

Gallery on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth.

Mr. BROWNSON.

Brownson, in his Review, for January, 1855, page 123, says:

A friend in Raleigh, N. C., sends us the following newspaper:

"If the Pope directed the Roman Catholics of this country to overthrow the Constitution, to sell the slaves, to make themselves slaves, and to renounce all claim as a dependent people to Napoleon the Little, crown them would be bound to obey."—Brownson's Review, by the Author of Boston, Mass.

Upon this he remarks:

We suppose there are people in the country, not under珪nian rule, who can, not believe, that it was the Church. Now we never wrote one word of it, nor anything from which it could be logically inferred. The Brownson's Review, the Author of Boston, by whom weak eyes can be as well taken as strong ones. Persons, whose eyes are so easily taken, that the ordinary sky-light of the operating sun causes a contraction of the muscles, and consequently a squint, are invited to try this great improvement.

Gallery on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth.

Mr. BROWNSON.

Brownson, in his Review, for January, 1855, page 123, says:

A friend in Raleigh, N. C., sends us the following newspaper:

"If the Pope directed the Roman Catholics of this country to overthrow the Constitution, to sell the slaves, to make themselves slaves, and to renounce all claim as a dependent people to Napoleon the Little, crown them would be bound to obey."—Brownson's Review, by the Author of Boston, Mass.

Upon this he remarks:

We suppose there are people in the country, not under珪nian rule, who can, not believe, that it was the Church. Now we never wrote one word of it, nor anything from which it could be logically inferred. The Brownson's Review, the Author of Boston, by whom weak eyes can be as well taken as strong ones. Persons, whose eyes are so easily taken, that the ordinary sky-light of the operating sun causes a contraction of the muscles, and consequently a squint, are invited to try this great improvement.

Gallery on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth.

Mr. BROWNSON.

Brownson, in his Review, for January, 1855, page 123, says:

A friend in Raleigh, N. C., sends us the following newspaper:

"If the Pope directed the Roman Catholics of this country to overthrow the Constitution, to sell the slaves, to make themselves slaves, and to renounce all claim as a dependent people to Napoleon the Little, crown them would be bound to obey."—Brownson's Review, by the Author of Boston, Mass.

Upon this he remarks:

We suppose there are people in the country, not under珪nian rule, who can, not believe, that it was the Church. Now we never wrote one word of it, nor anything from which it could be logically inferred. The Brownson's Review, the Author of Boston, by whom weak eyes can be as well taken as strong ones. Persons, whose eyes are so easily taken, that the ordinary sky-light of the operating sun causes a contraction of the muscles, and consequently a squint, are invited to try this great improvement.

Gallery on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth.

Mr. BROWNSON.

Brownson, in his Review, for January, 1855, page 123, says:

A friend in Raleigh, N. C., sends us the following newspaper:

"If the Pope directed the Roman Catholics of this country to overthrow the Constitution, to sell the slaves, to make themselves slaves, and to renounce all claim as a dependent people to Napoleon the Little, crown them would be bound to obey."—Brownson's Review, by the Author of Boston, Mass.

Upon this he remarks:

We suppose there are people in the country, not under珪nian rule, who can, not believe, that it was the Church. Now we never wrote one word of it, nor anything from which it could be logically inferred. The Brownson's Review, the Author of Boston, by whom weak eyes can be as well taken as strong ones. Persons, whose eyes are so easily taken, that the ordinary sky-light of the operating sun causes a contraction of the muscles, and consequently a squint, are invited to try this great improvement.

Gallery on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth.

Mr. BROWNSON.

Brownson, in his Review, for January, 1855, page 123, says:

A friend in Raleigh, N. C., sends us the following newspaper:

"If the Pope directed the Roman Catholics of this country to overthrow the Constitution, to sell the slaves, to make themselves slaves, and to renounce all claim as a dependent people to Napoleon the Little, crown them would be bound to obey."—Brownson's Review, by the Author of Boston, Mass.

Upon this he remarks:

We suppose there are people in the country, not under珪nian rule, who can, not believe, that it was the Church. Now we never wrote one word of it, nor anything from which it could be logically inferred. The Brownson's Review, the Author of Boston, by whom weak eyes can be as well taken as strong ones. Persons, whose eyes are so easily taken, that the ordinary sky-light of the operating sun causes a contraction of the muscles, and consequently a squint, are invited to try this great improvement.

Gallery on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth.

Mr. BROWNSON.

Brownson, in his Review, for January, 1855, page 123, says:

A friend in Raleigh, N. C., sends us the following newspaper:

"If the Pope directed the Roman Catholics of this country to overthrow the Constitution, to sell the slaves, to make themselves slaves, and to renounce all claim as a dependent people to Napoleon the Little, crown them would be bound to obey."—Brownson's Review, by the Author of Boston, Mass.

Upon this he remarks:

We suppose there are people in the country, not under珪nian rule, who can, not believe, that it was the Church. Now we never wrote one word of it, nor anything from which it could be logically inferred. The Brownson's Review, the Author of Boston, by whom weak eyes can be as well taken as strong ones. Persons, whose eyes are so easily taken, that the ordinary sky-light of the operating sun causes a contraction of the muscles, and consequently a squint, are invited to try this great improvement.

Gallery on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth.

Mr. BROWNSON.

Brownson, in his Review, for January, 1855, page 123, says:

A friend in Raleigh, N. C., sends us the following newspaper:

"If the Pope directed the Roman Catholics of this country to overthrow the Constitution, to sell the slaves, to make themselves slaves, and to renounce all claim as a dependent people to Napoleon the Little, crown them would be bound to obey."—Brownson's Review, by the Author of Boston, Mass.

Upon this he remarks:

We suppose there are people in the country, not under珪nian rule, who can, not believe, that it was the Church. Now we never wrote one word of it, nor anything from which it could be logically inferred. The Brownson's Review, the Author of Boston, by whom weak eyes can be as well taken as strong ones. Persons, whose eyes are so easily taken, that the ordinary sky-light of the operating sun causes a contraction of the muscles, and consequently a squint, are invited to try this great improvement.

Gallery on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth.

Mr. BROWNSON.

Brownson, in his Review, for January, 1855, page 123, says:

A friend in Raleigh, N. C., sends us the following newspaper:

"If the Pope directed the Roman Catholics of this country to overthrow the Constitution, to sell the slaves, to make themselves slaves, and to renounce all claim as a dependent people to Napoleon the Little, crown them would be bound to obey."—Brownson's Review, by the Author of Boston, Mass.

Upon this he remarks:

We suppose there are people in the country, not under珪nian rule, who can, not believe, that it was the Church. Now we never wrote one word of it, nor anything from which it could be logically inferred. The Brownson's Review, the Author of Boston, by whom weak eyes can be as well taken as strong ones. Persons, whose eyes are so easily taken, that the ordinary sky-light of the operating sun causes a contraction of the muscles, and consequently a squint, are invited to try this great improvement.

Gallery on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth.

Mr. BROWNSON.

Brownson, in his Review, for January, 1855, page 123, says:

A friend in Raleigh, N. C., sends us the following newspaper:

"If the Pope directed the Roman Catholics of this country to overthrow the Constitution, to sell the slaves, to make themselves slaves, and to renounce all claim as a dependent people to Napoleon the Little, crown them would be bound to obey."—Brownson's Review, by the Author of Boston, Mass.

Upon this he remarks:

We suppose there are people in the country, not under珪nian rule, who can, not believe, that it was the Church. Now we never wrote one word of it, nor anything from which it could be logically inferred. The Brownson's Review, the Author of Boston, by whom weak eyes can be as well taken as strong ones. Persons, whose eyes are so easily taken, that the ordinary sky-light of the operating sun causes a contraction of the muscles, and consequently a squint, are invited to try this great improvement.

Gallery on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth.

Mr. BROWNSON.

Brownson, in his Review, for January, 1855, page 123, says:

A friend in Raleigh, N. C., sends us the following newspaper:

"If the Pope directed the Roman Catholics of this country to overthrow the Constitution, to sell the slaves, to make themselves slaves, and to renounce all claim as a dependent people to Napoleon the Little, crown them would be bound to obey."—Brownson's Review, by the Author of Boston, Mass.

Upon this he remarks:

We suppose there are people in the country, not under珪nian rule, who can, not believe, that it was the Church. Now we never wrote one word of it, nor anything from which it could be logically inferred. The Brownson's Review, the Author of Boston, by whom weak eyes can be as well taken as strong ones. Persons, whose eyes are so easily taken, that the ordinary sky-light of the operating sun causes a contraction of the muscles, and consequently a squint, are invited to try this great improvement.

Gallery on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth.

Mr. BROWNSON.

Brownson, in his Review, for January, 1855, page 123, says:

A friend in Raleigh, N. C., sends us the following newspaper:

"If the Pope directed the Roman Catholics of this country to overthrow the Constitution, to sell the slaves, to make themselves slaves, and to renounce all claim as a

